Re: Sierra Nevada Brewing Company – Mills River, NC

Dear Rob:

Modern Building would like to take this opportunity to provide some specific comments with regards to Tindall's performance on the referenced project. With any project there are inevitably going to be issues that need to be overcome, but on the SNBC project we worked through all issues quickly and effectively as a Team. This was due in large part to Tindall's strong relationship with Modern Building, their project approach, key staffing and overall management of the project that kept things moving in a positive direction.

The staff of Modern Building, and on behalf of our client, Sierra Nevada Brewing Company, would like to express our sincere appreciation to Tindall for its key contributions to the timely and successful completion of the project. There were high expectations on both schedule and functional layout, and both items were executed to the highest degree. We would like to recognize and especially commend the efforts of your management, engineering, and field team leaders, along with the rest of the individuals who aided in the project. Their overall "Team Approach" along with their hard work, timely attention to issues and focus on quality have proven yet again that Tindall is the top precast subcontractor associated with the Modern Building organization.

When this project originated, there were nearly unrealistic expectations to be "pouring beer" by Fall of 2014. Not only did Tindall meet their promises, but surpassed them and in turn assisted us in completing the entire project early. Modern Building and Tindall accepted the challenge and together accomplished a successful project. We look forward to continuing our positive relationship on future building projects.

Sincerely,
